

Estimating bees

Have a quick look at each bees' hives and estimate how many bees you think there are. Write down your estimate (clever thinking guess). Once you have estimated them all, check how close your estimates are by counting how many. How far away were your estimates, use a number line to check.

